

would like to invite you to

An introduction to AFBI's Veterinary Science Division

WHERE: AFBI Stormont's library 2 – 5 pm

WHEN: Wednesday 25th of November, 2015

An interactive afternoon starting with a general introduction to AFBI-VSD and information on the services provided to veterinary surgeons. There will be several short presentations followed by a site visit!

- Pneumonia outbreaks: best protocol to achieve a diagnosis
- Ovine abortion diagnosis
- Brief introduction to AFBI Cattle Health Scheme
- Anthelmintic resistance in live fluke and gastrointestinal nematodes
- Diagnosis and control of Neospora

There will be a site visit as well:

- Laboratory tour: including the laboratories processing diagnostic samples and the BVD laboratory
- Post-mortem area: including a demonstration of a PM examination.

COST: This event is free but places are limited!

After the event there is the opportunity to join the committee and delegates for an informal dinner at your own costs. Venue 'Il Pirata', Belfast at 18.30h. Please indicate when registering if you'd like to come along.

To register contact yvn.ni@hotmail.com

