Feeding for resilience:

why milk replacer composition matters to calf health

with Dr Aaron Brown

Based in north Fermanagh, Aaron joined Trouw Nutrition in 2022 to support Trouw's growing Young Animal Feed business. A large part of his role is providing technical support on youngstock nutrition, housing and management, milk replacer formulation to customers and farmers across Ireland, with an objective to help producers unlock early life potential in their calves. He now leads their Young Animal Feed Business in Ireland.

Aaron will deconstruct milk replacer formulation - laying out the macronutrient and micronutrient content and the implications on calf digestion and health, practical points for making comparisons and feeding considerations for different types of milk.
